Metro Christian Legal Aid Hires Executive Director Matthew Doane joins staff as Executive Director of MCLA

Louisville, KY: Metro Christian Legal Aid (MCLA) is pleased to announce the growth of the organization has led to the hiring of its first full-time Executive Director. Matthew Doane is joining MCLA on July 30, 2018 as Executive Director.

“As a past volunteer at MCLA,” Matt states, “I know firsthand the impact a Christian based legal services ministry like MCLA can and does have on its clients - not only in providing legal help, but more importantly, in facilitating a conversation about Jesus Christ. My passions in life are to help people and spread my faith. As Executive Director, I am excited to use my legal background to do both.” MCLA Founder and previous Executive Director, Randy Gibson, says, “Matt has a wonderful heart for the Lord and a passion and vision for this ministry. Matt is wise beyond his years. We are deeply grateful for the Lord bringing Matt at this time to lead this ministry and are tremendously excited about Matt and the future of MCLA!”

Matt graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and International Studies from the University of Kentucky in 2012 and graduated with a Juris Doctor, cum laude, from the University of Kentucky College of Law in 2015. Matt previously worked as an attorney in private practice in Lexington, Kentucky, focusing on real estate and commercial and general civil litigation. Matt, his wife Kate, and their newborn daughter will be relocating to the Louisville area.

About the Company: Metro Christian Legal Aid (MCLA) was founded in 2014 by Randy Gibson with a mission to “Pursue Justice, Bring Hope, Restore Peace and Change Lives.” MCLA is a 501(c)(3) ministry devoted to helping individuals, churches and Christian non-profits in disputes with legal issues through weekly and monthly clinics located at various locations around the Louisville Metro Area.
